

America Attacked

Dream through Pete Kasbohm

I received this email from a brother who saw martial law and an attack on America,
Thomas S. Gibson

Greetings!

You may find this interesting. In the early nineties I lived on the east coast and had a dream. In the dream my little Brother and I were in some sort of a war room looking down on a map of the United States. We saw perforated lines coming out of the ocean in and around the Washington, DC area. We thought it was a war game and mocked as the first shots fell short. We then realized it was real and watched as strategic targets were hit. The scene changed and we were looking at the center of the nation. Written across the center of country were the words Martial Law. Beneath those words was a single red star.

At the time I had the dream, as I said, I lived on the East Coast. My brother lived and still lives where I am originally from...Minnesota. Three years ago God called me to move back home.

While out East I was given a confirming word about pastoring in a specific area out east. Without going into greater detail I had a dream when I first got saved where my little brother and I labored together in the ministry. He is not saved.

I say all to mention timing. That the hour of America's greatness is wanning away and destruction is lapping on our shores.

Any case God bless you and your house!

A brother in Christ
Pete Kasbohm
